HIGHLIGHTS

INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGNER

Conscious Discipline at Home marclemaydesign.com/module-write-up · 2026

- Self-directed e-learning module; sole designer and developer, using ADDIE and SAM: analysis, scenario writing, assessment design, UX and visual design, built in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript.
- Two scenario-based assessment sections that require answers in the learner's own words, with detailed feedback and scores in bands rather than numbers.
- Accessible to WCAG 2.1 AA, tested by hand with VoiceOver on iPhone and Mac; rebuilt two sections from a moderated usability test with a parent; beta follows SME review.

EDUCATOR

- Curriculum innovation: Built and taught 13 undergraduate and graduate courses from scratch; 1,200+ students across six universities, with student evaluations consistently scoring my teaching 4–5 out of 5.
- Strong public-facing communication skills: translates into quality instructional design, engaging learning facilitation, and skilled AI prompt engineering.
- Accessibility and LMS management: eight courses moved fully online during the pandemic, plus five more taught as hybrids; recorded and captioned video lectures, tracked engagement analytics, and authored quizzes and discussion boards in Canvas and D2L Brightspace.

LEADER
Georgia State

- Directed undergraduate studies for roughly 350 students with 40 full-time and 25 part-time faculty, and chaired the committee responsible for undergraduate curriculum.
- Collected and reported assessment data across five course sections against scored criteria; the comparison identified a grader scoring consistently harder than peers, corrected the following year.
- Audited curricula against career-readiness competencies and reported where courses fell short, as one of four College of the Arts fellows on the university's Quality Enhancement Plan.

CREATOR

- 33 contemporary classical pieces: composed, many on commission, for varied instrumentations.
- Project management: every commissioned piece and collaborative work is a project with stakeholders whose needs I have to meet, including delivering finished work on time and to spec.
